Holmes film is no mystery

Because of his universal popularity, it's no mystery why Sherlock Holmes will be reincarnated into another TV project.

CBS yesterday announced production plans for a made-for-TV movie starring Anthony Higgins as Arthur Conan Doyle's master sleuth of Baker Street.

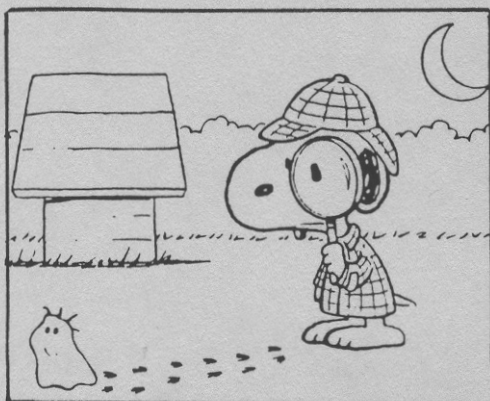

In this new version, Holmes — who miraculously hasn't aged in 94 years thanks to a self-induced sleep — will have to outwit the evil offspring of his arch enemy, Moriarty. The movie will air some time next season.

SHERLOCK HOLMES

The USPS recently issued a new Sherlockian "Rose" adhesive stamp. It reminds us of Holmes' observation concerning the rose

in NAVA.

Holmes: "What a lovely thing a rose is." "... the goodness of Providence seems to me to rest in the flowers." (NAVA)
